5. New Business
   a. Humans vs. Zombies Event Budget

   SAFB recommends funding $277.50 which is 50% of the cost in compliance with SAFB Code.

   Kyle Boyle, UCHA in chat asked: “What does this event entail?”

   Zane Stobie stated: “Hi everybody. I’m Zane Stobie, EAL. Humans vs Zombies is a week-long game of infection tag. You'll see people in green bandanas either on their arms or on their heads. They’re usually missions throughout the week and... oh looks like J. Goodman can also speak about the event, but yeah I'm kind of already up here, sorry. It's a really cool event. There's like missions that happen at certain times throughout the week either during the day or at night. You'll have different teams, different objectives, different events that happen, and there are two factions. You have the zombies which try to hunt the humans by doing tags, and then there's humans which are trying to survive until the end of the week. Humans can throw socks at the zombies to stun them, but it's really cool a way to interact with other people, kind of get your exercise in for the week, and kind of be a little bit paranoid on campus because people may be looking out buildings trying to tag you but it's all in good fun and it's a really good time.”

   Kyle Boyle motioned to approve the funding for Humans versus Zombies Game Week budget. Sam Browning seconded.

   Austin Wall motioned to amend the funding for Humans versus Zombies Game Week budget from $277.50 to the full $555.00. Julia Goodman seconded.

   Austin Wall, MAL stated: “I'm Austin, the head mod for Humans versus Zombies this semester which means I run the game and all that fun stuff. So this budget is a little bit larger than our normal budget because we were told there's some additional funds in this budget that just kind of are sitting here not being spent. We're always looking for ways to improve our game. So this semester since the past few semesters have been kind of shaky. We really wanted to try to have the best game possible. So we went in and added some additional items to try to make this game even better than previous games as well as getting some more equipment like a new megaphone because our megaphone is currently broken and all that stuff. And if there's any questions, I can answer them as well."

?? stated: "Will there be a link posted for sign ups for this?"

Austin Wall stated: "Yes. We're gonna have flyers put up closer to the time. We normally have our sign ups like the week before the event. Each player is required to attend an informational. I could also post a link to our Discord server which is where all of our announcements and stuff will happen. So we typically expect around 100 people on, like, a typical game. With COVID and all that going on, it really... there's no telling. We're hoping to get close to our normal attendance now that things are starting to look a little bit better on campus with vaccination rates and all that, but we'll just have to kind of see closer to time, how the current campus climate is."

The motion to amend the funding for Humans versus Zombies Game Week budget from $277.50 to the full $555.00 passed (53 ayes [81.52%]; 12 nays [18.46%]).

Humans versus Zombies Game Week budget with the amendment was approved (48 ayes [87.27%]; 7 nays [12.73%]).
